In our experience, good ideas submitted to the NIH are turned down more often because of poor packaging and presentation – i.e., poor grantsmanship – than for any other reason. The NIH version of our Workbook is designed to avoid that trap. This Workbook will serve as your step-by-step guide to writing a compelling, fundable NIH grant application. We explain how to write each component of the proposal, after which we offer an example.

In addition, the principles and fundamentals of good proposal writing – good grantsmanship – are fully transposable across agencies. Given those two facts, we have written a generic, any-agency version of The Grant Application Writer's Workbook. It can be used to write a proposal to any grantor, either federal or non-federal, other than NIH, NSF, or USDA-NIFA.
